ABSTRACT

This pocket-size directory lists federal, state, and private agencies; clearinghouses; and organizations that address the general and specific health needs of minority groups. The guide has seven sections. Part 1 describes the Office of Minority Health (OMH), its activities, and the OMH Resource Center. Parts 2 and 3 list Public Health Service minority health liaisons, regional consultants, and state agencies concerned with minority health. Part 4 lists federal health information centers and clearinghouses by 57 topical categories. Parts 5 and 6 list organizations concerned with the health of African Americans, American Indians and Alaska Natives, Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders, and Hispanics/Latinos; multicultural organizations; and those that distribute health materials in Spanish or Asian languages. Part 7 provides three sources for information on minority-based colleges and universities. Each entry gives the complete mailing address, telephone and fax numbers, and a Web site or e-mail address (if available). (SAS)

The Office of Minority Health (OMH) was established by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) in 1985. It advises the Secretary and the Office of Public Health and Science on public health program activities affecting African Americans, American Indians/Alaska Natives, Asian Americans, Hispanics/Latinos, and Pacific Islanders. Its goal is to promote improved health among these racial and ethnic minority populations.

OMH coordinates HHS' programs to implement the White House Initiative on Historically Black Colleges and Universities and Executive Order 12900 -- Educational Excellence for Hispanic Americans. It staffs the department's Working Group on Hispanic Issues.

Major OMH projects include support for the 19-college Consortium on Family and Community Violence, grants for health demonstration projects organized by minority community coalitions, and cooperative agreements for health projects with major national minority organizations.

OMH works with HHS operating divisions and other Federal departments to improve collection and analyses of data on the health of racial and ethnic minority populations, and it monitors efforts to achieve Healthy People 2000 goals for minority health.

OMH maintains minority health consultants in each of the 10 HHS Regional Offices. OMH also maintains the OMH Resource Center, which was established to assist in the exchange of information and analysis of minority health issues.

OMH-RC

The Office of Minority Health Resource Center (OMH-RC) was established by the Office of Minority Health in 1987 to facilitate the exchange of minority health information and assist in the analysis of minority health issues.

Information resources on minority health include databases (funding, media, research, data, and listings of volunteer resource persons) as well as scientific reports, journals, and documents. OMH-RC services are free, and can be obtained by calling toll-free 1-800-444-6472. Information specialists are available from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Eastern Time, Monday through Friday, to assist callers in English and Spanish.
